Pigeonpea germplasm passport information	I

Introduction

Passport information, consisting of accession identifiers, information on origin, location, etc., are of critical importance in the predictive value of accessions. However, these data are mostly incomplete for germplasm assembled from other centers. The world collection of pigeonpea conserved at ICRISAT gene bank now consists of 11 034 accessions from 52 countries (Table 1). From this 3134 accessions have been collected in various expeditions carried out by ICRISAT. Complete passport information is available for these accessions. The data sheet used in collecting field data is included on page xv. The computer-based catalog has seven passport descriptors, the data on which is presented in this catalog. A major portion of the world collection has been evaluated and the summary of data is presented in a companion volume 'ICRISAT Pigeonpea Germplasm Catalog: Evaluation and Analysis'.

Source of the Germplasm

The initial collection obtained by ICRISAT comprises the germplasm assembled by the former Regional Pulse Improvement Project (RPIP), a joint project of USDA, India, and Iran. When RPIP was phased out in 1970, sets of this collection remained at the Indian Agricultural Research Institute (IARI), Regional Station at Rajendranagar, near Hyderabad, and several agricultural universities in India. In 1973-74 this material was sent to ICRISAT from these centers. RPIP had also stored one set at the National Seed Storage Laboratory, Fort Collins, Colorado, USA. This material was sent to Puerto Rico and then to ICRISAT. Many of the accessions in the RPIP collection have died. Data on the precise origin of many of the accessions are not available.

We soon realized that this collection was far from complete. Based on the center of diversity, crop statistics and representation in the collection, priority areas for collection were identified in consultation with national and international pigeonpea scientists and the International Board for Plant Genetic Resources (IBPGR). ICRISAT then embarked upon a phase of accelerated germplasm assembly. The present status of accessions from India is shown in Table 2. In this work, the early efforts of Drs L.J.G. van der Maesen (currently at the University of Wageningen, the Netherlands) and Anishetty N. Murthi (currently at IBPGR, Rome) deserve special mention.

The wild species related to Cajanus, particularly Atylosia and other members of the subtribe Cajaninae, also received attention. At present we have 271 accessions of 47 species belonging to 6 genera of Cajaninae. Passport information on these accessions is given in Table 3, all wild species accession numbers are denoted by 'W' to indicate their wild status e.g., ICPW 15. They have been evaluated for possible use in pigeonpea improvement and many of them are being utilized.

Passport Descriptors

The descriptors are listed and explained below with their computer codes in parentheses. The numbers for each descriptor correspond to the column heads of the tabular passport information that starts on page 1.

1. ICRISAT pigeonpea accession number [ICP]

A unique identifier for each accession is assigned by the ICRISAT gene bank when an accession is registered. The accession number is preceded by the letters ICP. Once assigned, this number will never be reassigned to another accession. When an entry is lost, its assigned number is not reused.

Selections within accessions on the basis of seed color were indicated with a dash: e.g., ICP 1234-2. Many of these were discontinued when they were found to have the same characteristics as the original accessions.

1. We do not know the meaning of the codes AH, CC, DL, DS, DT, E, G, GM, GT, GDM, IP, KT, M, MF, ML, MHS, NE, NT, NPC, NPSL, PT, PBN, PTB, PTBS, R, SN, SPT, TM, Tn O, TMT, TMDT, USAD, WMA. Any persons who can provide information on any of these codes are kindly requested to inform us at ICRISAT.

2. Accession name [NAME]

The accession name is the cultivar name or pedigree or code identifying the cultivar given by the donor or institute which developed the line.

3. Country of origin [COUNTRY]

This describes the country of origin of accession, not of the dispatcher.

4. Province of origin [PROVINCE]

The province of origin of accession is normally the name of the largest administrative sub-division of the country. For example, in India the states are referred to in this descriptor.

5. Location of origin [LOCATION]

This is the precise location of origin, village or place/district from which the accession originated. For some, the pedigree name involves the location. However, for most of the assembled germplasm this is not known. This information is available for all the accessions collected by ICRISAT expeditions.

6. Other designation [OTHER]

This may be the original number assigned by the collector, usually prefixed by initials. It can also be a number given by a donor or institute.
